

'Twas the week before Christmas, and all through the city,
the Santa Ana winds had Tustin in a tizzy.

Stockings stuffers filled the counters inside,
while Jewelry Exchange elves helped customers decide.

When up on the roof arose such a clatter,
that Property Manager, Jennifer Joo, went to see what was the matter.

Customers were calling as they drove by,
amazed by St. Nicholas trying to fly.

Santa and his reindeer had tried to take-off,
from the Jewelry Exchange rooftop without getting aloft.

The winds were reportedly gusting to seventy,
and would be uprooting trees well into Saturday.

Two air conditioning units were completely destroyed,
as Santa and his reindeer unsuccessfully deployed.

The sleigh is being repaired and the reindeer are well,
while the Jewelry Exchange elves continue to sell.

No expected delays for deliveries on Christmas,
and the Jewelry Exchange will remain open for business.

As Christmas approaches we all wait to hear,
the pitter patter of Santa's repaired sleigh and reindeer.

Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night,
creating this poem has been such a delight.

From your friendly elves at the Jewelry Exchange.
(with apologies to Clement Clark Moore)

the Jewelry
Exchange[®]
Factory Direct!

