

Mission

EmpowHER's mission is to improve women's health and change their lives.

About Us

EmpowHER is a health media company for women. The Company's website provides women with access to condition-specific health information, world-class medical resources, and a dynamic community of experts and advocates committed to their well-being. Millions of women visit EmpowHER.com every year, making it one of the largest and fastest-growing resources dedicated exclusively to women's health and wellness.

Background

Renowned women's health advocate and EmpowHER founder, Michelle King Robson, started the company following her own personal struggle with a debilitating health issue that left her feeling hopeless and alone. In EmpowHER, Michelle has built a company that provides women with the most comprehensive and up-to-date information available on women's health, as well as a forum for women to connect and share stories of struggle and hope.
